

SHALL THE CRIME PASS UN-NOTICED?

The Legislature passed a bill reducing the salaries of the deputies of State officers and the Governor's private secretary. The bill was stolen before it reached the Governor and of course its provisions cannot be enforced. As not more than half a dozen persons were affected by the bill the logical inference is that one or all of them knew what became of it as no person outside the State Capitol would have any interest in preventing it from becoming a law. Though the crime is one that should not be permitted to go unpunished, no effort, so far as heard of, is being made by the State officers to discover the guilty ones. The State appropriates money to be offered as rewards for the detection and conviction of criminals. Why not use that money in trailing those who stole that bill? If this theft is passed unnoticed it will embolden others to adopt the same method of disposing of objectionable bills. The opinion is general that the person whose salaries were reduced conspired to prevent the bill from being placed on the statutes, and those persons, if they be innocent of the charge, should do all in their power to establish the fact.—Journal

Not Even a New Name.

An item is going the rounds that a new cattle disease has appeared, from which many cattle are dying. This disease is called "charbon." There is nothing new about it, not even want of knowledge of the fact that in many diseases, and other things also, different words mean the same things. Charbon, anthrax, blackleg, all are different names for the same disease. Not only cattle, but horses' pigs, sheep, cats and dogs have died from this disease in great numbers. Even human lives have been lost by it. It is a highly dangerous disease, and in every case where an animal dies from it the body should be burned. Pastures have been poisoned and the disease spread by burying in the ground dead bodies of animals that had died from it.—Gazette.

Whisper the News.

Shush! It is now whispered that Mrs. Cleveland is going to have a shush! It is said she has gone to Buffalo to tell her mother that—shush! If the charming report is true it will be the first time the White House has ever been the scene of a shush! Good news travels like wild-fire. Everybody was talking yesterday afternoon about the possibility of the popular President elect being again—shush! How empty the honor of naming a cabinet compared with the bright prospect of being able to name a—shush! Only one cause for regret, though, and that is how may Baby Ruth regard her little—shush.—N. Y. Recorder.

Judge Gresham, Secretary of State and head of President Cleveland's Cabinet, was one of the "306" stalwarts who fought for a third term for Grant in the Chicago Convention in 1880. The survivors of that immortal band who, under the leadership of Roscoe Conkling, went down before superior numbers, are to hold a reunion this Spring, and the question is now being asked whether Judge Gresham can spare time from his duties to meet with the old guard.

A Washington dispatch says a notable wedding in that city Easter week will be that of Roy Jones, son of Senator J. P. Jones, to Miss Paulina Williamson. The Senator is out on a regular shopping expedition, selecting numerous and costly gifts for his future daughter-in-law, and for the time being questions of State are in abeyance.

Sacramento has a funeral air now because the old slow going town expects to lose the Capitol. Sacramento stole the Capitol from San Jose years ago and the latter city is anxious to get it back. The members say that the Sacramento people are not hospitable and that the newspapers go too much into their private affairs, hence the vote to move.

When our contemporaries assure the public that the APPEAL never tells the truth, everybody knows that they really mean that they only wish it never had.
